JOHN SAMUEL HYATT passed away peacefully April 7, 2018. Hyatt was an accomplished artist and designer who used his skills and talent to positively affect the performing arts communities not only in Michigan and Wisconsin but across the United States. Hyatt loved theatre with tremendous passion. His passion drove him and his wife, Mary, to open John S. Hyatt and Associates, Inc. in 1984, in Grand Rapids, MI.

For more than thirty years the company has focused on scenery, lighting, rigging, audio, drapery, and of course Hyatt’s favorite, custom solutions. Through his leadership, the company has assisted in building and designing hundreds of theatres, churches, performing arts centers, studios, and educational centers across the US. Hyatt always put his clients first. He worked many long hours and weekends to make sure the project was done correctly. Spending countless hours on the road, in the shop, and onsite gave him perspective into clients’ needs in order to achieve their dreams.

The team at John S. Hyatt and Associates shared: “Working with John has been an amazing gift for all of us here at John S. Hyatt and Associates, Inc. He valued all of us, not only as employees, but also as designers, equals, and friends. He encouraged us to be the best we could possibly be and gave us the tools we needed to succeed in this industry. John was an avid believer in teamwork, which strengthened all of us individually, and the company as a whole. He also created an enjoyable atmosphere at the office and many days we found ourselves doing things such as eating pie and sharing laughter together. He will truly be missed.”

“John S. Hyatt and Associates, Inc. will proudly continue to carry on John’s legacy as we continue to move forward in providing outstanding solutions for all of our clients’ needs.”
